Ethics 1 Wife or mom, who would you choose?

Answer 1 Maybe I will save the closest one to me. In the class, I get 5 points of Daoism and 5 points are the highest score I get. I totally agree some principle in Daoism. The idea of Daoism is doing nothing and nature. But I agree with the thought about nature about not in doing nothing. I think everything has the sake for existing in this world. But I also get 4 points Utilitarian. So I will do some judge this two result and combine my own situation. I am not good at swimming and if there isn't any special situation such as that my wife is pregnant or my mother has lot of money :P. So, I will save the closed one to me without special situation or some important sake will change me. I hope there is not some strange condition.

Ethics 2 Kill one starnger or let 5 strangers die?

Answer 2 Maybe I will let 5 strangers die and just pretend dozing off. Just as the first question, I agree with part of Daosim and Utilitarian. So I don't know why they are there, and I don't want to know the story behind. I just know I am the driver of this train. And my job is to drive this train to the desired destination. So my most nature thing is keep train safe. And I don't know these guys. And I don't know wether they are useful to me so I will do something just like Daoism. I will do nothing. But I will pretend dozing off. But actually if I know one of these guys, I will think about it wether he is useful to me or helped me before. But they are just strangers :).
